Celebrities in Cahoots

Hong Kong TVB's popular game show "Super Trio Supreme" films an overseas episode in Amara Sanctuary Resort Sentosa

Singapore, 30th December 2008 – A troupe of high profiled Hong Kong celebrities from Television Broadcasts Limited, otherwise known as TVB, will descend onto Amara Sanctuary Resort Sentosa this January.

In conjunction with the Singapore Tourism Board, renowned personality, Eric Tsang, or Zheng Ji Wai and his co-hosts, Chin Ka Lok, Louis Yuen and Wong Cho Lam, will be in Singapore this January as they embark on the filming of another episode of their high-energy "Super Trio Supreme" variety show, from within Amara Sanctuary itself.

Super Trio Supreme began as the "Super Trio Game Show" produced by TVB in 1995. Aired across the countries of China, Taiwan, Malaysia, Thailand, Singapore and beyond through cable television, Super Trio Supreme showcases celebrities participating in crazy games. Having remained in production for 10 years as a result of its popularity with audiences, in 2008, the Super Trio Game Show underwent a facelift and came back re-emerged with additional hosts and a series of newer and more exciting games on board.

As the production crew films the episode within Amara Sanctuary and Sentosa itself, expect to see these television icons get dunked in water, whipped with cream on their faces, or have balloons burst right by their bodies as the Hong Kong artistes pit themselves against their Singapore counterparts in an adrenaline pumping competition of question, answer, and penalty forfeits thereafter.

A press conference will also be held within Amara Sanctuary on the 6th Jan 2009 as the TVB hosts and celebrities from Hong Kong and Singapore meet each other before several days of mayhem and gaming to crown the better celebrity country team!
